District Awarded Third State Grant For Desegregation

The Princeton Regional District has been awarded its third desegregation grant from the State, in the amount of $449,000. This is the third year in a row the District has received this grant, adding up to a total of $1,270,000 in desegregation funds.

A special public meeting has been called for Tuesday, August 24, at 8 p.m. in the Valley Road conference room to discuss the 1993-94 programs that will be funded by the grant. These programs must be submitted to the State by August 27.

On Monday night, August 2, a group of people, chaired by Littlebrook School Principal Bob Ginsberg, met until 1 a.m. to discuss how the grant might be used.

They then recommended a variety of programs to Interim Superintendent of Schools Richard Willever. These included both a continuation of some existing programs and several additional proposals. It is Mr. Willever who will select from these proposals and present his recommendations to the School Board on August 24.

"I want the money going for programs that are more directly involved with kids," said Mr. Willever. "Part of the concerns I have are with some proposals that have a heavier administrative overload. This concerns me. I don't see that as going to kids."

Mr. Willever gave the satellite homework centers in several parts of town as an example of programs that directly help children. He said he would like to see some of the desegregation money used to equip these centers with the kinds of computers that are being used in middle and high school.

"The desegregation grant," said Mr. Willever, "is to be used to directly benefit minority

Tentative Agreement Reached On a New Teacher's Contract

The School Board's negotiating team last week reached a tentative agreement with the Princeton Regional Education Association (PREA), the union representing Princeton's teachers. A ratification vote is not expected until after September 8, when school begins.

If the contract is ratified by the teachers, it will then be presented to the School Board for approval. The tentative agreement was reached with the aid of State mediator Bob Glassom.

The two sides agreed to the terms of the new contract last Wednesday night at 11:30 p.m., after a 13½-hour bargaining session. "I am very pleased we were able to reach an agreement," said Candace Preston, who led the Board's negotiating team. Betsy Wilczek and David Robbins are the other team members.

"I felt we worked very hard to come to agreement, said Ann Johnston, president of the PREA and a teacher at Princeton High School. "We finally reached a fair settlement for both sides. We wouldn't have agreed to [the settlement] if we hadn't felt the teachers would agree."

The PREA's negotiating team also included Kenneth Raybuck, Eleanor Pinelli, Edward Beacham, and Samuel Ishibashi.

The previous teachers' contract, which expired June 30 of this year, provided an average salary increase of 9.3 percent over three years. The first-year increase was 9.7 percent; the second year, 9.5 per-

Dripless Ice Cream Holder Invented by PHS Band Director

On a hot day last summer, Anthony Biancosino, band director at Princeton High School, took his six children to a Dairy Queen for ice cream. The line was long and as it moved slowly toward the window, his attention was caught by the children in the family in front of him.

They were jumping up and down, all excited about the upcoming treat. One wanted jimmies on top, another was having a hard time deciding what flavor to choose. A short time later, as he and his children were eating their ice cream outside their van ("We always eat outside the van," Mr. Biancosino says), they heard a terrific ruckus — the parents of the children who had been so happy moments earlier were screaming in anger because of ice cream spilled in the car.

"This happens all the time," Mr. Biancosino observes. "The day is hot, ice cream melts, it runs down the arms and onto the car seats. Those parents screaming at their kids, that really bothered me. I thought, 'they're not culpable.' I decided I had to do something."

What Mr. Biancosino did was to think up the dripless ice cream holder, for which he recently received U.S. patent 5,224,646. It is basically a cup and a lid with holes in the periphery of the lid. Ice cream drips pass through the holes and are collected at the bottom of the cup. A slot in the lid enables the eater to tip the cup and drink the melted ice cream, or to insert a straw through the slot to suck up the liquid.

The lid can be made with a rounded depression in the center in which a scoop of ice cream can be placed, or it can come with a fluted interior, designed for holding a cone. If the cup is made for a cone, the sides are tapered, but the base is still flat, although narrower, enabling the holder to be placed on a table top.

The cup can be made of hard plastic, dishwasher proof and reusable, with the lid being disposable, or the entire assembly could be made of laminated cardboard. Mr. Biancosino has thought of a variety of possibilities.

"I think it would work well not only for kids but also for senior citizens," he suggests. Since news of the patent appeared in the business pages of a recent Saturday edition of the New York Times, he has received phone calls from Wisconsin, Illinois and California from people interested in developing and marketing his invention.

Wawa Will Close After 9½ Years On Nassau Street

After 9½ years in the same location, the Wawa store at 259 Nassau Street will shut its doors for good on Saturday. A number of market conditions brought it to this fate, according to Wawa regional manager David Yeager.

The new rent, which was negotiated in a commercial lease ten years ago, would have gone up shortly, when the store picked up its next five-year lease option. Also, said Mr. Yeager, Nassau Street Wawa's business has been nibbled away by other stores that have opened in the past decade. These include not only adjacent Davidson's, but McCaffrey's and a number of smaller stores that sell sandwiches.

In addition, Wawa is in the midst of a remodeling program of its stores. The $400,000 cost of remodeling the Nassau Street one was prohibitive in light of the other factors affecting business, said Mr. Yeager.

"We hate to close," he said. "I know we've had a lot of

cent, and the third, 8.7 percent.

The contract squeaked through Board approval in June 1990 by a vote of 5-4. School Board member Harry Levine, who voted against it, said that the extent of the increase, compared with what other municipal professionals have received, "comes close to violating the trust of the community."

For the past several years, however, teacher salary increases in New Jersey have shown a downward movement. Contracts finalized from January through March 1993 contained an average settlement rate of 5.9 percent for 1993-94, according to the New Jersey School Boards Association.

In June, teachers in the West Windsor-Plainsboro District approved a contract providing a 5.99 percent salary increase this year and a 5.95 percent increase for the next two years. The new contract provides no new benefits and cuts back on tuition-free education for children of teachers who live outside the district.

Neither the School Board nor the teachers' union will release any information on the new contract's salary or contractual provisions.

The 1990-93 PREA contract provided a 185-day work year with a maximum of 4½ hours per day of per-pupil contact in the elementary, middle, and high school. Work on weekends, during the summer, or on vacation or holidays was compensated at $43 per hour. In-service and curriculum development work was paid for at the rate of $25.45 per hour.

The contract also allowed children of staff members who live outside the District to attend Princeton schools, tuition free, in all grades.

The current salary for a beginning teacher in the Princeton District is $30,620. A teacher with a master's degree and 13 years' experience earns $57,321. A person with the same experience, who holds a doctorate, receives $63,678.

The School Board is also in the process of negotiating two additional contracts with school administrators and support staff.

A tentative contract agreement has been reached with the Princeton Regional Administrators' Association (PRAA), reported Richard Godfrey, leader of the School Board negotiating team.

This too awaits ratification by the union after the opening of school. Mr. Godfrey said he will recommend that the School Board approve the agreement once it is ratified by the union. "I think it is a good one. I wouldn't recommend it if I didn't," he said.

Ruth Bronzan, who leads the team that is negotiating with the Princeton Regional Educational Support Staff Association (PRESSA), said the sides were at impasse, but had made some progress. They requested a mediator from the State, who is expected sometime after the opening of school. The union is composed of school secretaries, maintenance employees, and aides.

students." This statement is a departure from previous uses of the grant, when school officials said the money could be used to benefit all students, including minorities.

Approximately $45,000 of the previous grant, for example, was used to help support Project Discovery, a program at the high school for students at risk, both minority and non-minority.

An additional $102,000 was used to provide computer access to students who do not have a computer in the home, and $106,000 was budgeted for staff development. Much of this was used to pay teachers for time spent in additional training.

Improving the academic achievement of minority students has been the major goal of the School Board during the 1992-93 school year. The Board's concern came out of two recent cross-sectional studies done by the District, which showed the persistence of a significant gap in grades between Asian/white students on one hand and black/Hispanic students on the other.

Gerald Groves, who was then School Board president, labelled the gap in performance "an academic emergency."

Three-Month Reprieve Is Granted to Kiosk

Borough Council last week granted a three-month stay to the kiosk at Nassau and Witherspoon Streets, which had been scheduled to be torn down by United Jersey Bank. Jim McManimon, manager of the branch at Nassau and Witherspoon, said the bank's offer to pay for removal would remain.

But he added that he would still like to see the kiosk gone, making it clear that the bank would be willing to relocate it almost anywhere, as long as it was no longer outside its front door

Councilmen Mark Freda and David Goldfarb maintained their opposition to the kiosk, and both voted against granting the three-month extension. Supporting the extension, which was linked to having the Arts Council keep the kiosk well groomed, were Roger Martindell, Jane Terpstra and Mildred Trotman.

Ray Wadsworth, an opponent of the kiosk, was not at the meeting. Had he been, and had he maintained his opposition, Mayor Marvin Reed would have had to cast a tie-breaking vote. To this point, the Mayor has kept his public remarks on the kiosk to concerns about its condition.

The pro and con positions on the kiosk were exemplified by Mr. Martindell and Mr. Freda. The former said that there will now be a period of time when the Borough can assess with some calmness the role of the kiosk.

Mr. Freda said that nothing had been done to the kiosk until the Borough said it would be torn down. "It might look pretty for six or seven months. In a year or two we'll have a similar discussion."

Growing Support

A petition supporting the kiosk grew from 250 signatures two weeks ago to 1,185 last week. To the comment of Borough resident Lawrence Dupraz that a good percentage of the signatures were not those of taxpayers, kiosk partisan Arthur Saylor responded that people from out of town spend money, and work, in Princeton.

Jane Terpstra made a bid for the semi-adoption of the town's other kiosk, which is located in front of the Garden Theatre. She said she hoped the Arts Council would join the Borough public works staff in maintaining it. Her response from the Arts Council's Ann Reeves was a bit like that of someone faced with the arrival of twins when only one baby was expected.

"We will need some help with that," said Ms. Reeves.

Mayor Reed brought up the condition of the second kiosk when he said he has been actively trying to get a movie theatre back in town, into the now-closed Garden Theatre.

Said the Mayor, "I don't want to be on the verge of somebody signing a lease or making an offer to purchase and be asked, "What is that thing in front?"

St. Joseph's Seminary To Lease Its Buildings

St. Joseph's Seminary, the boarding high school seminary on Mapleton Road that closed last summer, has entered an arrangement with the Roman Catholic Diocese of Metuchen for continued use of the facility. The Diocese will use the buildings for its youth programs, and it will also rent out the space to other groups for workshops, seminars and retreats.

West Windsor-Plainsboro School District made a proposal to lease the space for five years to accommodate 400 students in grades four to six while school officials figured out how to deal with a space crunch. The district is now preparing for an October bond referendum to build new facilities.

The Vincentian priests who own St. Joseph's selected the Diocese of Metuchen's proposal over that submitted by the West Windsor-Plainsboro School District because it involved less renovation of the building and a shorter lease arrangement. In addition, the six remaining Vincentian priests will be able to continue living at the seminary.

According to the Rev. William Bamber, seminary president, there were about 25 proposals to lease or bid the prop-

Kollar: "We Will Still Appeal."

Elmer Kollar remains as tenacious as ever in his death-by-high-speed lawsuit against the Borough

Even in the light of a unanimous ruling recently by the State Supreme Court that holds that police officers have absolute immunity from being sued for injuries or death as the result of high-speed chases, Mr. Kollar was still defiant. "We will pursue it. We will not let police get away with a frame-up and a cover-up."

As a result of the State Supreme Court decision, Gerard Hanson, special counsel for the Borough, intends to file a motion requesting that the Kollar suit be dismissed. Mr. Kollar and his wife sued the Borough and Patrol Officers Kenneth Lozier and Donald Dawson for negligence and acting in bad faith when their son, Mark, was killed in May, 1986 while being pursued by the two officers.

The Borough defense is that the two officers were involved in nothing more than routine police work when they tried to stop Mr. Kollar on his motorcycle. The ensuing chase from Mercer Street down Alexander Road ended when Mr. Kollar's cycle hit the Alexander Road bridge abutment and became airborne.

Mr. Kollar insists more than just a high-speed chase was involved. He maintains the police acted in bad faith when they violated a standing Borough departmental order prohibiting high-speed pursuits and then were guilty of a conspiracy when they tried to cover up their actions.

Should the Borough's motion to dismiss be upheld, Mr. Kollar vowed, "We will still appeal it. I believe we come under the federal statute wherein police have immunity — unless they act in bad faith.

"If only a police chase were involved, why hide an eyewitness?" Mr. Kollar asks. "Why alter their own tapes of conversations between patrolmen and dispatchers? Why lie on reports about the speed? — all of which are felony crimes."

Why Three Minutes Instead of One?

Why, questions Mr. Kollar, does the police tape report it took three minutes for the patrol car to go from University Place to the point of impact, when tests he had conducted reveal it takes a minute to cover the distance and when Lt. Mario Musso of the Township police, who was involved in the early aspects of the investigation, admitted it requires under a minute's time?

Mr. Kollar noted that a careful reading of Chief Justice Robert Wilentz in the recent State Supreme Court decision grants police absolute immunity, "but then," he said, "he adds three important words: 'absent wilful misconduct'." To which Mr. Kollar adds, "or any allegation of bad faith."

Mr. Kollar also notes that in 1992 when the Borough attempted to have the Kollar case consolidated with the case on which the Supreme Court just ruled, Superior Court Judge Andrew Smithson, in denying the request, mentioned "bad faith" three times.

In Mr. Kollar's view, the question of whether Borough police acted in bad faith in his son's death is "clear cut. They are trying to cover it up. And the officers are not alone in the cover-up." The Borough attorneys are involved too, he said.

"I think it [the Supreme Court ruling] has no effect because of my main allegation — that the police acted in bad faith," concluded Mr. Kollar.

"Even if it is true that the Borough is not financially responsible, even if Mrs. Kollar and I never receive a single dime, we will take this case as far as we can. I will not let it be. I will devastate that police department."

A Settlement Agreement On Expansion of Squibb

Lawrence Township Council introduced an ordinance last week that will allow Bristol-Myers Squibb to construct an additional 445,000 square feet at its Route 206 facility. A public hearing will be held in September.

The ordinance is part of an agreement between the pharmaceutical company and Lawrence Township to settle the lawsuit Squibb initiated in 1989 to protest a change in the Land Development Ordinance that reduced the amount of space the company would be allowed to build. Before the change, which was designed to protect the environment in the zone by limiting development, Squibb could have built up to 3.5 million square feet on the 273-acre property.

The 445,000 square feet is the amount of additional office space Squibb sought in the lawsuit. Under the agreement, the company would not seek a variance for any future construction and agrees to keep all its facilities within the loop road. A 300-foot buffer between adjacent properties will be maintained.

In addition, Bristol-Myers Squibb will modify the intersection of Cold Soil Road and Carter Road to include left and right turn lanes for traffic turning onto Carter Road from Cold Soil. The company also agreed to forfeit an overpayment of $241,466 in developer fees made during the first two construction phases if the agreement is finalized by ordinance.

If the Lawrence Township Council adopts the ordinance, Bristol-Myers Squibb will have to submit a site plan for the 445,000 additional feet of construction for Planning Board approval. According to Christopher Tarr, Bristol-Myers Squibb attorney, the company has no immediate plans to begin construction. He said the project would move forward over a number of years.

Euro-Style Coffeehouse Set for Palmer Square

The only European-style coffeehouse in the Central Business District will open soon at 5 Palmer Square West. The Bucks County Coffee Company, as it will be called, will serve a variety of specially brewed coffees, including cappuccino, cafe latte and espresso, as well as desserts and bakery items.

Rodger R. Owen, founder and president of Bucks County Nut and Coffee Company, said there has been a definite demand from both students and area residents for a coffeehouse like those found in San Francisco and Boston. "There is a coffee renaissance happening across the country, and coffeehouses are becoming increasingly more popular. It's very exciting to bring one to Princeton."

The new coffeehouse, scheduled to open in the fall, will offer both sit-down and take-out services. All coffee served will be made from the finest Arabica beans (mountain grown) freshly roasted daily at the company's home office in Langhorne, Pa.

The coffeehouse will open daily at 7 a.m. (noon on Sundays). Sunday through Wednesday it will be open until 7 p.m., and Thursdays until 9 p.m. The coffeehouse will stay open until 11 p.m. on Friday and Saturday nights.

In addition to providing an alternative to bars and restaurants, the new Bucks County Coffee Company will create ten new jobs in the Princeton area. To learn more about these employment opportunities, call Ms. Chris Vaccarella, personnel manager, at (215) 741-1855.

Legal Help Available At Womanspace, Inc.

In an effort to expand its services and programs in the Mercer County area, Womanspace, Inc., has started a Legal Clinic, staffed by volunteer attorneys.

The attorneys are available for a nominal fee, $15, to provide legal information in areas such as separation, divorce, visitation, custody, support and restraining orders. Appointments are held at the main office of Womanspace, Inc. at 1860 Brunswick Avenue in Lawrenceville.

Although most of the women who have used the service so far come to Womanspace for other services related to domestic violence issues, the Legal Clinic is open to anyone. The volunteer attorneys provide information on legal options that the counselors cannot provide. Many people don't know what legal options are available to them or how to select an attorney.

In addition to the Legal Clinic, Womanspace provides a variety of counseling and support services to victims of domestic violence and their children. Womanspace also operates the Statewide Domestic Violence Hotline and a 24-hour emergency shelter for women and children. General workshops, on issues such as communication and self esteem are often offered.

Volunteers will be called upon for three hours every four to six months. Demand is so high that, even without publicizing the clinic, appointments are filled each month. Additional volunteer attorneys will mean that no waiting list will be necessary.

The Legal Clinic began in January with a few volunteers. Among them are Princeton Attorney George Pauk, who was the first to volunteer. Others are Rafael Aviles, Trenton; Margaret E. Bond, Pennington; Joanne Dietrich (Dietrich, Dietrich & Mikulski), Trenton; Marilyn Kline (Hartsough, Kenny, Innes, and Kline), Princeton; Jennifer Wisberg-Millner (Szaferman, Laking, Blunstein, Watter and Blader), Lawrenceville; Vinayo Saiuwani, Carolyn E. Dates Are Announced For Meetings on Supt.

In addition to the meeting scheduled this Monday at 8 p.m. in the Valley Road Conference Room, the School Board has announced the dates of three additional meetings that will deal with the search for a new superintendent of schools.

Carol Larsen, the Board's consultant in the search process and a member of the Field Service Department of the New Jersey School Boards Association, will moderate all four meetings.

The three additional public forums are scheduled for the month of September. They will be held Wednesday, September 8, at John Witherspoon School; Monday, September 13, at Littlebrook School; and Tuesday, September 14, at Community Park School. All will begin at 8 p.m.

At each of these meetings, Ms. Larsen will explain the search process and time lines, and will moderate the discussion on the district's strengths and needs. She will also seek information from the members of the audience about the characteristics they think are important in a superintendent.

These public meetings will augment information gathered from a survey that will be sent to every postal patron in the Borough and Township and to every employee in the school district.

The data will be used to create an advertisement for the position, as well as to develop the criteria with which to review the applications.

The Board also released a tentative timeline on the search process. On Tuesday, September 21, Ms. Larsen will give a full report to the Board at a public meeting on the results of the forums, the conferences, and the data from the survey.

In early October, the Board will formally advertise the position. November 8 will be the application deadline.

In December, candidates will be interviewed by the Board. The final candidate is expected to be selected in early February.

Persons interested in speaking with Ms. Larsen directly are encouraged to call her during business hours at (908) 446-5090.

Restraining Order Ended On Quarry Park Court

This past Friday in Superior Court, Judge Paul Levy withdrew the temporary restraining order on the construction of the Quarry Park basketball court.

"The Borough can now authorize proceeding with construction," said Borough Attorney Michael Herbert. He said he planned to discuss the case at the Borough Council meeting scheduled for Tuesday night, August 10.

Judge Levy dismissed the main component of the suit brought by Linden Lane resident John deGrazia, which alleged that construction of the basketball court would violate restrictions in the original Green Acres grant, said Mr. Herbert.

He said the court indicated that this allegation would be dismissed in light of the fact that Green Acres has recently stated that the construction of a basketball court in Quarry Park would not be a violation of the 1975 grant.

Judge Levy said that any appeal of the Green Acres decision on the court would have to be brought before the Appellate Division, Mr. Herbert said.

Another suit, brought by Friends of Quarry Park, also claimed that the basketball court was in violation of Green Acres restrictions. This suit would also have to be filed in the Appellate Division, Judge Levy told attorney Neil Lewis on Friday.

Mr. Lewis, who could not be reached for comment, also contended in the Friends' suit that the Borough was in violation of the open public meetings act on April 13, and that the actions of the Borough governing body were arbitrary and capricious.

The Borough moved to strike these on the grounds that the suit was brought beyond the 45 days permitted by statute, said Mr. Herbert.

Judge Levy, who is moving from Superior Court to Appellate Court, refused to dismiss these charges at this time. He sent the case to Superior Court Judge Philip Carchman. Mr. Herbert said he expects Judge Carchman to rule in September, at the earliest.

"From my perspective, the allegations that remain have no legal basis whatsoever," said Mr. Herbert.

Minor Thefts Reported In Borough Last Week

A computer and license plates were reported stolen last week in the Bornugh, and one man has been charged in a theft reported the previous week.

A Macintosh computer was taken from a locked storeroom at Princeton University's Third World Center on Olden Avenue sometime between June 30 and August 3. There were no signs of forced entry.

License plates were taken from a car belonging to a woman visiting the Medical Center. They were removed from her car while it was parked in the Franklin Avenue lot for 45 minutes last Saturday.

Jay Hobbs, 693 Rutherford Avenue, Trenton, has been charged with the theft of the bag of golf clubs reported in last week's TOWN TOPICS. The clubs, valued at $1436, were taken July 16 from the Springdale Golf Club after a tournament. Hobbs had been there looking for work as a caddy that day.

A Palmer Square clothing store unknowingly contributed in a big way to the summer wardrobe of a shoplifter last week.

A clerk at the store noticed several empty hangers on the racks around 2:15 p.m. on August 4. An inventory check revealed five dresses, one pair of pants and a jump suit missing, for a total value of $333. No description of the suspect or suspects could be given.

Stalking Charge Levied After Township Incident

A Kendall Park man has been charged with stalking under the new state statute that went into effect in January.

Mena Manolios, 34, of Kendall Park was arrested by Township Police shortly before 11 a.m. last Friday in front of a home on Old Orchard Road (off Mt. Lucas Road). According to police, Mr. Manolios had been harassing the female resident inside, ringing the doorbell consistently for two hours, and refusing to leave.

Police would not release fur-

Watch Snatch Is Foiled By Motorist on Birch Ave.

A woman attempting to park her car on Birch Avenue near John Street around 9 a.m. Monday almost lost her watch in the process.

Two male suspects approached the car and one reached in the open window on the driver's side and tried to grab the watch off the woman's wrist. The attempt failed and the men fled on foot.

Three male juveniles, two 17 years old and one 16, have been charged with possession of under 50 grams of a controlled dangerous substance (believed to be marijuana). The trio was apprehended by Township police shortly after 9 last Saturday in Princeton Battlefield Park off Mercer Road.

The thought of the rapidly approaching school year may have pushed another juvenile into a small but overt act of criminal mischief over the weekend. A three-foot by six-foot window in the rear of Littlebrook School was found broken. It is valued at $150.

SALE ITEMS SOUGHT: This four-piece sterling silver coffee service is just one of many items that will be for sale at this year's Art, Antiques and Rummage Sale to be held October 2 and 3, benefitting the Princeton Medical Center. Borough Sec'y Resigns, Faces Charges of Theft

Patty Yates, a resident of Clay Street, has resigned from her position as secretary at Borough Hall, effective August 4. She had been secretary to Mayor Marvin Reed and Clerk Penney Edwards-Carter, and earned an annual salary of $17,657.

Ms. Yates, a Borough employee for the past 9½ years, was arrested last month and charged with the theft of cash from the administrator's office.

She was alleged to have taken in excess of $500 from parking permit fees that were paid over the counter in cash, and was suspended without pay the day of her arrest.

Borough police are continuing their investigation. The case will be forwarded to the Mercer County Prosecutor's Office after the investigation is complete.

Bogus Travelers Checks Hit Borough Merchants

Borough merchants are wishing someone had left home without them, and are taking a closer look at travelers checks these days after an alert put out by Borough police.

During the first couple of weeks in July, five stores were each given $100 Atlantic Bank VISA travelers checks to pay for items purchased. They included clothing, gift and food stores on Palmer Square and nearby streets.

Each store deposited the check, but they all came bouncing back a couple of weeks later as bogus color copies of the real thing.

Three Trips Scheduled By the Recreation Dept.

The Recreation Department has scheduled two day trips and a weekend trip this fall. Recreation Department trips are open to residents and non-residents on a first-come, first-served basis.

A day trip to West Point Military Academy with lunch at the Thayer Hotel and a sightseeing cruise on the Hudson River is scheduled for Thursday, September 23. The trip will feature a guided tour of the Academy, including Trophy Point and the Cadet Chapel. Tickets are $40 for Trip Club members and $45 for non-members.

A day trip is also scheduled to the Renault Winery followed by an afternoon at an Atlantic City casino on Saturday, October 16. The trip will feature a guided tour of the winery where participants will sample the wines and have a full lunch. They will then board the bus to go to Atlantic City for six hours at a casino.

Tickets are $30 for Trip Club members and $35 for non-members.

The Recreation Department has also planned a weekend trip to New England Friday, November 12, through Sunday, November 14, Veteran's Day weekend. The trip will include visits to the Fall River Factory and the Vanity Fair outlets for shopping bargains, and a day at the Johnson & Wales Culinary School. The day will begin with a guided tour of the Pruning is the removal of plant parts. By pruning, one can direct the growth of the plant to enhance their performance and function in the landscape. Plants grow in many shapes and habits. The natural characteristics of different plants can be exploited through landscape use and maintenance practices. Pruning can enhance plant appearance and safeguard plant health and well-being. Pruning can remove dead, diseased, injured rubbing and crowded limbs.

A dense top may be thinned to allow for the passage of light and air. Air circulation reduces the incidence of certain diseases. Proper thinning of the top reduces wind resistance, which can create deformities or break the trunk and branches, as was the case with the Nor'easter of '92. Pruning can reduce shade, the danger of wind-throw and interference with utility wires.

If you choose trees that will be an appropriate size at maturity this will minimize the need for pruning. If you have a tree that needs to be pruned more than every five to seven years to control its size, then it is the wrong plant for that particular location. There are a number of disease and insect problems that can be minimized by pruning. With some species, time of pruning is important.

New ESL Courses & Resource Center at YW

The YWCA's English as a Second Language program will offer new courses this fall within the context of a resource center designed to reach a wider array of people throughout the region

Ming Crusey, YWCA ESL director, said the biggest change will be the expansion of the ESL program into the broader-based Princeton Multi-Cultural Community Center which will open in the fall. The Center, housed in Bramwell House, is designed to provide a place for informal community-wide social gatherings where students can practice their English skills while learning American culture.

A new ESL community network will hold rap sessions throughout the year The first, scheduled for October 1, will seek to contact teachers and organizations that serve the ESL population.

New courses will be offered to reach more people — specifically, adults in the community who typically have fewer opportunities than children to learn English. In addition to the Level 1 through 5 English classes, the new enrichment classes include "Preparing for American Citizenship" and "Travel With the YWCA," which will feature day trips for ESL students to places like Philadelphia, Atlantic City and Cape May

A tennis class will provide tennis instruction for ESL students twice a week with an additional day in the classroom "Learn English by Using the Newspaper" will instruct students in the language and its idioms in conjunction with the education department of The Trenton Times, which will provide newspapers for use and discussion. "Conversation in Social Situations," with instruction in the use of language and idioms in social contexts, will be the core course for the Community Center

The Orientation Open House Night for the Community Center will be held Wednesday, September 29, from 5 to 7 p.m. For more information call 497-2122.

The drop-off locations were established as a cooperative effort between the towns and the Mercer County Improvement Authority, using funds from a grant supplied by the New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection and Energy.

"The need for these drop-offs was brought home to me when I learned that approximately two-thirds of the 11 million gallons of oil purchased by 'do-it-yourself' oil changers in New Jersey each year is disposed of illegally," said County Executive Robert D. Prunetti. "That means that better than seven million gallons of used motor oil fouls our environment every year, contaminating the drinking water we all use." One gallon of used motor oil improperly disposed can contaminate a million gallons of drinking water or the equivalent of a year's supply of water for 50 people.

The drop-offs are available to all Mercer County residents but are only open during designated hours. Borough residents should call Sean Burns at 497-7629 and Township residents Pat Eager at 921-7077, the municipal recycling coordinators.

Support for Sixth Graders Funded by Foundation

Family Service Princeton Area runs an after school group program to help sixth grade children who have problems at home. They are given an opportunity to talk, to play and to learn that they are not alone in their anguish.

The Mary Borden Foundation has helped support one of these groups for each of the past three years. This year the Foundation has given a $7,500 grant to Family Service, which will fund one and a half groups. The three groups meet during the school year at the Kreps School in Hightstown, facilitated by counselors from Family Service.

The counselors help the children learn to deal with their anger and their hurt feelings. The objective is to help the children cope with their home lives so that they can concentrate on school work. Research from past programs has shown that these children improve their school attendance, modify their behavior and achieve better grades when they participate in this support group.

These groups are entirely dependent on grants to cover the costs. Family Service is grateful to the Borden Foundation for its support. Others interested in helping support a group should call Charlotte Zimmerman Grant at 448-0056.

Princeton MarketFair To Exhibit Dinosaurs

Princeton MarketFair will be transformed into a prehistoric world of ages past as a 17-foot-long Ceratosaurus, a flying Rhamphorhychus, and a Compsognathus, the smallest adult dinosaur found, are exhibited throughout the mall's interior in displays of their natural habitat. This exhibit, by Prehistoric World, will be on display through Sunday.

More than two dozen pieces will be on display during the week-long event, including lifesize baby dinosaurs, head models and fossil casts. Admission is free and large groups are welcome. To book a group, call 452-7777.

On Friday at 10:30 a.m. there will be a special presentation of "The Dinosaur Play," an interactive play for children ages 3 to 11, in center court.

MarketFair will also sponsor a "make your own dinosaur" contest. All entries must be three dimensional. On Wednesday, August 11, at 7 p.m. in center court, judging will be done in two categories: individual entry (ages 2 to 6 and 7 to 12) and group entry (ages 2 to 6 and 7 to 12). Prizes will be awarded and the winning models will be on display throughout the duration of the exhibit. To register call 452-7777.

Wawa Closing

loyal customers." But closing the store was a business decision. "At Wawa we close five or six stores a year. As the lease term comes up, we evaluate the profitability of each store and close those that are least profitable."

Although he called the rents in Princeton "astronomical," Mr. Yeager said his landlord, Martin Bratman, was fair. "I don't want to cast him as a villain. This was a deal negotiated ten years ago. It was not like Mr. Bratman raised our rent too high."

While losing one store in Princeton, Wawa plans to gain one in Hopewell. The chain expects to move into the site of Casablanca restaurant, at the intersection of Routes 518 and 31, early next year.

Mr. Yeager said he would like to open another store in Princeton, in addition to the one that will remain on University Place, and will continue to look for a site. He also said he wants to thank all the store's customers "for their loyal patronage all these years."

Edward Witten, 126 Clover Lane, professor of physics in the School of Natural Sciences at the Institute for Advanced Study, has been designated as an honorary doctor of philosophy of the Hebrew University of Jerusalem.

Prof. Witten, in the citation to him, was described as one of the world's leading theoretical physicists who has won international acclaim for his development of String Theory.

Bucknell University has named five area residents to the dean's list for the spring semester. They are, Michele Firestone, 747 Prospect Avenue, daughter of Gail and James Firestone; Jennifer Kelley, 17 Sayre Drive, daughter of Kenneth and Mary Kelley; Sarah Ackley, 16 Merritt Lane, Rocky Hill, daughter of Anne Gray and Alexander Ackley; Paul Koch, 31 Springwood Drive, Lawrenceville, son of Leonard and Carol Koch; and Kristen Kusek, 15 Lannigan Drive, Lawrenceville, daughter of Robert and Elaine Kusek.

Lelia B. Arnheim, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Arnheim, 36 Prince William Court, has attained dean's list status, the second highest recognition for academic achievement, for the spring term at Middlebury College.

Lawrence Parker, 272 Leigh Avenue, is one of 11 high school science and mathematics teachers from around the country to have received an eight-week assistantship at Princeton University's Plasma Physics Laboratory (PPPL) through the Teacher Research Associate Program (TRAC) sponsored by the U.S. Department of Energy.

Mr. Parker, an industrial arts teacher at Trenton Central High School, will work in PPPL's magnetic fusion research program.

Claire Brown, daughter of Sandra and Jonathan Brown of 71 Battle Road and a Princeton University senior, was co-leader for a group of campers who broke a rock climbing world record in July.

Ms. Brown co-led a group from Navajo Trail camp in Brecknell, Utah, which placed 11 people upon the top of a rock formation known as Mexican Hat. The largest number previously to climb to the top of this flat-topped rock, which juts out beyond the rock formation on which it is balanced, was seven. It is quite a feat to climb to the top, let alone assist others in getting there as well.

A 1990 graduate of Princeton Day School, Ms. Brown started climbing at the climbing wall at Princeton University, largely to gain upper body strength for being on the tennis team. She went on a number of climbing expeditions and this summer was named assistant to the head rock climber at Navajo Trail.

She is an anthropology major at Princeton.

Gillian Ashenfelter of Princeton has been selected by the Student Conservation Association (SCA) as a member of the Mexico-United States Conservation Leadership Exchange Program (MUSCLE) this summer in Big Bend National Park, Texas.

The volunteer crew is composed of five high school students from Mexico and four from the United States. They work under the supervision of trained SCA leaders to restore damaged area trails and receive hands-on experience with riparian ecology. The exchange group lives and works high in the park's Chisos Mountains. The MUSCLE program is made possible by a three-year grant from the W.K. Kellogg Foundation.

Tempting Tiger's Closing Sad Event for Princeton

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The closing of the Tempting Tiger on Witherspoon Street after 14 years is a sad event in Princeton's history. As more and more local small businesses are forced out of Princeton or out of existence by rent increases and today's lingering economic conditions, one wonders where this trend will ultimately lead.

With this well-loved source of vitality missing, Witherspoon Street is less alive now, and a great deal less friendly.

When I ate at the Tempting Tiger, I got more than an excellent, nutritious meal at a reasonable price. I got a side order of real conversation. Proprietor Bill Moran, whose sense of humor and cultural literacy are unsurpassed among Princeton's business owners, would cheerfully relate hundreds of anecdotes covering the spectrum of politics, economics, music, philosophy, art, history, or just about anything you could imagine, over a background of jazz or Mozart.

Witherspoon Street will never be the same.

Ralph Lauren-Designed Town Shocks Born and Bred Former Princetonian

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I rarely return home to Princeton, but when the opportunity presents itself, it is almost always a shock.

Gone are the lovely small family-owned businesses and the village atmosphere. I often feel as though I have walked into a Ralph Lauren-designed town full of shops for the indiscriminating buyer. Thank God shops like Hulit's and Harry Ballot have survived. The recent hub-bub concerning Urken's grills on the sidewalks struck me as petty — but the argument over the kiosk at Nassau and Witherspoon borders on the ridiculous.

Is it too much to try to solve a problem by asking for volunteers to keep this kiosk neat rather than to spend thousands to have it removed? The kiosk has been a landmark of sorts for many years. I remember it fondly as I am sure many born and bred Princetonians do.

As far as Mr. Larry Dupraz's concern that the kiosk presents an opportunity for teens to "hang out," the area to which he refers has been a teen hangout since Weinstein's was there back in the sixties and probably before.

If the main concern is the "messy" look the kiosk gives the downtown Princeton business district, maybe we should establish a dress code as well, no rumpled khakis, socks required with shoes, no old P.U. ties with spots, nothing to suggest the old guard atmosphere that used to make Princeton a unique little village where we knew each other by our first names.

Reception for Governor Was a Smashing Success

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I wish to offer hearty thanks to the merchants, churches and community members of both the Borough and Township of Princeton for their overwhelming support at the reception honoring our neighbor, Governor Jim Florio, on Sunday, July 25.

Thanks are due to Chris and Susan Tarr for their fund-raising efforts and their gracious hospitality. I also thank Mayor Marvin Reed and Councilperson Phyllis Marchand for their fund-raising efforts and for assuring the splendid sunshine and summer breezes. I thank each of them for the opportunity to stand together proudly on Sunday morning.

Big thanks go to Mike and Jennie Tarr and their classmates for creating the colorful welcome banner!

I thank the Princeton community for their efforts, kindness and generosity which is wholly responsible for making this reception a smashing success!

The Odd Couple is presented by the Shakespeare '70 company of Trenton. The production features George Hartpence, David Christoffersen, Derek Tarson and Dale Simon.

Cast as the Pigeon sisters are Tracy Hawkins and Wendy Way. Both women were featured in last season's comedy hit, Let's Murder Marsha.

The Odd Couple is staged by Tom Moffit assisted by Susan Tapper and produced and designed by Gerald E. Guarnieri.

The show will run Friday and Saturday evenings at 8 through August 28. The opening night performance and reception Saturday has only a few remaining tickets; all other dates are available.

"Sugar Babies" Next At New Hope Playhouse

Mimi Hines and Mike Boyle will return in the Bucks County Playhouse production of Sugar Babies this Wednesday through August 22. Ms. Hines replaces Gene Rayburn, who is unable to perform in the production due to illness.

Sugar Babies is a musical comedy that celebrates the vaudeville era with skits and burlesque routines that date back to the early 1900s. The show recreates the classic comedy that became such a hit on the vaudeville circuit. The score contains such classic songs as "On the Sunny Side of the Street," "I Can't Give You Anything But Love Baby" and "Exactly Like You."

Ms. Hines first came to light when she appeared on Jack Paar's "The Tonight Show" where she sang "Till There Was You." She and her husband Phil Ford were an instant hit. Ms. Hines took to the stage where she replaced Barbra Streisand in Funny Girl. Mr. Boyle has appeared in the role of the first comic several times over the years at the Bucks County Playhouse and has appeared with Mimi Hines in the national tour of Sugar Babies.

Performances are Wednesday through Friday at 8, Saturday at 5 and 9 and Sunday at 7. Matinees are on Wednesday at 2. Ticket prices are $19 for all shows except for Saturday at 5 which is $21 and Saturday at 9 which is $22.

Chorus Seeks Singers For Upcoming Season

The Delaware Valley Men's Chorus, a member of GALA, the Gay and Lesbian Association of Choruses, will open its third season with a rehearsal on Monday, August 23. Registration for new members, both singing and non-singing, will begin at 7:15 p.m. at the United Methodist Church on the corner of Nassau and Vandeventer streets.

The DVMC, directed by Dr. J A. Kawarsky, is a 50-member regional community chorus drawing from communities in central and northern New Jersey, the Philadelphia area and Bucks County, Pa The chorus is committed to establishing a quality men's chorus that strives to make a positive contribution to the community, gay and heterosexual, alike.

Still a young chorus, the DVMC already has an impressive list of credits to its name. In addition to sold-out performances of its regularly scheduled concerts, the chorus has performed on several occasions at the public display of the AIDS Memorial Quilt sponsored by the NJ Names Project. In addition, the chorus has performed in Denver, Col., at the GALA IV conference and has appeared at benefits for several AIDS services organizations. The chorus also participates annually in the New Jersey Gay and Lesbian Pride Parade.

In March, the chorus, along with the Westminster Community Orchestra, co-sponsored an AIDS benefit concert raising nearly $9,000 for local AIDS services providers, and in May, the chorus travelled to Harrisburg to perform in concert with the Harrisburg and Baltimore mens' choruses.

The 1993-1994 season promises to be equally exciting. Billed as "The Year of the Guest," the coming season will feature concert appearances by the Harrisburg Men's Chorus, the Maine Gay Men's Chorus, the Philadelphia Gay Men's Chorus, the Rochester Gay Men's Chorus, and the Trenton Children's Chorus. The holiday and spring concerts have been expanded to two performances each, and a March concert in Richardson Auditorium is planned. The chorus will also be appearing with Eartha Kitt and Margaret Whiting at a September benefit in New Hope, Pa.

The DVMC is a non-audition chorus, embracing all who love to sing irrespective of formal musical education or training. Since there is no audition, no prepared piece is needed, but new singers will be asked to vocalize so that appropriate voice placements can be made. New members not interested in singing should attend the rehearsal as well so that non-singing administrative positions can be filled.

STURHAHN, DICKENSON & BERNARD

Here's a surprising fact that proves how unpredictable sports can be ... When the Washington Redskins won the Super Bowl in the 1982 season, they LOST EVERY game they played in the pre-season exhibition games that year — yet, they went on to win the Super Bowl that season!

Now that Anthony Young, in 1993, set the big league baseball record for losing the most games in a row in history, do you know which pitcher holds the record for winning the most in a row? ... Answer is Carl Hubbell who won 24 consecutive games including his last 16 in 1936 and his first 8 in 1937.

Surprisingly, 3 out of 5 people at the age of 70 or older will spend time in a nursing home. Please call us to discuss long term care coverages.

Did you know that a mother-son combination once participated in the Olympics for the United States? ... The only mother-son combination ever to do that was Alice Arden Hodge who competed in track and field in the 1936 Olympics, and her son, Russ Hodge, who took part in the decathlon in the 1964 Olympics.

SPORTS

End of Season Nears In Summer Basketball

The 11-game regular season in the Princeton Recreation Department's Summer Adult Basketball League was supposed to end Friday with two games but rain ruled out any tidy completion

Three makeup games were played last Wednesday night, however, and some positions in the league will not change no matter what happens before the playoffs.

Chemical Bank won the regular season with a 9-1 mark and has one game left with Princeton SportsMedicine. SMB (7-3) clinched a second-place finish when Carnevale Disposal was nipped, 31-30, by Princeton Youth Sports. It was the fourth loss in 11 games for the defending league champions.

Elsewhere, Bergman & Barrett finished in the basement with a 1-10 record, one game below 2-9 Gardenscapes. Carnevale Disposal is third with a 7-4 mark and should Princeton SportsMedicine lose its last outing to league champ Chemical Bank, three teams would finish all even at 6-5: PSM, Princeton Youth Sports and Custom Essence, requiring a tie-breaker.

In the upcoming playoffs, all ten teams will be guaranteed at least one game. The seventh- and eighth-place teams will play nine and ten to determine the final two playoff berths.

Then one versus eight, two versus seven, and so on until there are two survivors who will meet in a best-of-three series to decide the playoff champion.

In last week's action, Marquis Johnson connected for 13 points to lead Princeton Youth Sports to its one-point win over Carnevale Disposal Bram Reynolds added 11. John Thompson, a former Princeton High captain, was high for Carnevale with nine.

In the battle between the tailenders, Gardenscapes won for the second time when it sent Bergman & Barrett to its tenth loss in 11 games, 63-39. Bill Royal tossed in 20 points to pace Gardenscapes while Geoff Card led B&B with 14.

In the evening's third game, Custom Essense, benefitting from 21 points by Mike D'Allegro, the league's leading scorer, defeated Conte's, 58-48. Joe Godwin and Kurt Knuppel backed up D'Allegro with 14 and 13 points. Matt Bastardi with 14 reached double figures for the losers.

The top-four scoring leaders in the league have all averaged 17 points per game. They are D'Allegro, Royal, Alberto Baptiste of SMB and Card.

The three-point leader is former Hopewell Valley standout Chris Carlton of Gardenscapes who has 16. Dave Coy of Chemical Bank has connected for 15.

Invention

"I hope it will go through, I hope it takes off," Mr. Biancosino says. The dripless ice cream holder is but one of the many ideas he has dreamed up over the years, but it is the only one for which he filed a patent application. He did so in January with the encouragement of his wife, Merrill Price, who says it is one of the less complicated of his ideas and simple to make a prototype.

He took his idea, with a sketch, to patent attorney Richard Woodbridge of Princeton. Mr. Woodbridge's firm did the research at the U.S. Patent Office in Washington, D.C. to see if a patent had already been issued for something similar and helped him file the formal application, which went through without a hitch.

Mr. Woodbridge says that some 2,000 patents are issued each week, and for one to be mentioned in the New York Times is an "honor."

For Mr. Biancosino, it's the idea itself and the notion that anyone can have an idea and pursue it and in so doing improve on the way things have been done, or make a difference in people's lives that is the interesting part.

Ideas come to him at odd moments or while on a trip, such as when he took his daughter to camp in Vermont and dreamed up a recipe that tastes just like lobster but isn't. As a youngster he was interested in science as well as music and was always entering science fairs. His upbringing was one that fostered the imagination and encouraged dreaming and tinkering.

Raised in Rural Bucks Co.

Raised on a farm in rural Lower Bucks County, Pa., he and his twin brother grew up in a large extended family of music-lovers. The immediate household included his grandparents as well as his parents, and there were uncles and aunts and cousins nearby. His grandfather loved opera and played the coronet and guitar, his father sang and loved big bands, and as a result he got to hear a wide variety of music.

The family also had what he calls "incredible sing-a-longs," with his father and grandfather dishing out the harmony parts. He has continued this tradition with his own five daughters and son.

Mr. Biancosino attended a one-room school house in Tullytown, Pa., built in 1815, which his mother and uncles had also attended. The first three grades were in the one room on the ground floor, grades four and five upstairs and the sixth grade in the basement.

"Our teachers were graduates of normal school," he recalls. "They sat up on a platform while we did our lessons, and they would also play the piano and lead us in singing. In first grade you would be getting material for second and third grade. It really does work when there are small classes like that."

Long before the highways of today were built, there were the woods and fields to explore. "I roamed the woods for miles," Mr. Biancosino says. "The world — the fields and the trees — were mine. The idea of having parks in Princeton is nice, but I would like to see a huge farm plunked down in the middle of Princeton, where kids could ride horses and play with all different kinds of animals and have fun."

The barn was a laboratory. "If you asked your grandfather's permission first, you could use his tools," he continues. "I grew up tinkering with everything — bicycles, radios, television sets in the old days when they were tube-type. We actually built our own radios, using the cylinder of a toilet paper roll around which we wound copper wiring."

Junior High Inventor

By the time he finished sixth grade, Levittown had been built nearby and new schools were opened to accommodate the sudden increase in population. It was in seventh grade in the new junior high school that he began inventing things. "I had so many crazy ideas," he says.

The science teachers were excellent. A Mr. Werkheiser, whom he describes as an example of how one teacher can spark a child, encouraged students to think about things such as how they might make a rocket go to the moon faster. "Now we kids weren't about to go out and make rockets, but he made us think about those things," Mr. Biancosino recalls.

He received his diploma at Bishop Egan School, an all-male, academically-oriented Catholic high school in Bristol Township. There he played clarinet, saxophone, drums and tuba for the band, and his music teachers were members of the Philadelphia Orchestra.

"Our parents gave us the best," he remarks. Mr. Biancosino also studied tap dancing and ballet until he was 21 and says the choice between continuing in dance or music was a difficult one. He went on to earn a bachelor's degree in music performance at Temple University and a master's at Trenton State College.

About this time he fell in love with the saxophone and completed three years of course work for a Ph.D in performance, literature and history at the University of Indiana, studying with Eugene Rosseau, a world reknowned concert saxophonist He completed his dissertation at Coombs College in Philadelphia, where he also taught.

Mr. Biancosino also holds a doctor of fine arts degree in conducting at the University of Calgary, completed in a special three-year program which well-known conductors from all over the world were invited to lead Band members at PHS sometimes refer to him as "Dr Dr B."

Came to PHS in 1978

Mr Biancosino taught at Neshaminy High School while still an undergraduate and also at Ashland University in Ohio, where he was director of bands He learned of the vacancy in the director of bands position at Princeton High School while he was teaching at Coombs College in 1978 and decided to apply

He directs four bands at PHS, two feeder groups for his award-winning Studio Jazz Band, the Nassau and Tiger Bands, and also the Symphonic Wind Ensemble The Studio Band played at the New Jersey Ball at both the Reagan and Bush inauguration ceremonies in Washington, D.C., the first high school band in the country to play at an inaugural.

Mr Biancosino teaches a jazz improvisation or theory class at PHS and he is also coordinator of the arts. He can and does teach trumpet or trombone as well as clarinet and saxophone, and is on the faculty of Westminster Conservatory, the community education division of Westminster Choir College He feels Princeton is a nice community to teach in because it values education.

"Some of us are blessed," he remarks. "It is wonderful to love what you do and to be able to teach it and give it to others."

Mr. Biancosino is the father of five daughters and a son, ranging in age from 17 to 10. Divorced from their mother several years ago, he has custody of the children during the school year and weekend visitation rights during the summer. Last December, he married Ms. Price, a realtor at Fox and Lazo and former School Board candidate, who has three children, including a daughter in college, a son at the high school and a daughter in the middle school.

They met when her son took his oldest daughter to a prom. "But we would have met soon anyway," Ms. Price says Her Zachary, now a senior, has been in the band since his freshman year. His Michole, also a senior, is the leading alto saxophonist in the Studio Band This summer Mr. Biancosino has been husy enlarging his home on Grover Avenue to accommodate the extended family

Before the divorce he played his saxophone with hig hands. He writes poetry, but none of it has been puhlished, although former High School Principal Marylu Coviello, who once was an English teacher, has described his poems as being "very good" and having "real potential." He also writes and arranges music, again none of it puhlished.

His inventions have ranged from automatic kitchen cabinets to an idea for a burglar alarm, but the dripless ice cream holder is the first which he has tried to see to fruition. The message which he most wishes to impart is that anyone in any field can come up with an idea and follow it.

"You might think someone else has already thought of that. But you don't know. I'd like to tell young people: If you have an idea, write it down, right away. Later you can come back and think about it some more.

"Anyone who has an idea should do this," Mr. Biancosino continues. "That idea might be helpful or useful You might find the cure for cancer."

New Listing

Enter this stately historic Colonial through the handsome front doorway to a center hall. Or enter through a delightful arched side portico, with an original stone walled well and Dutch doors opening to a picturesque foyer with floor of Moravian tiles and an adjoining powder room. Either way you will enjoy the charm of the original house, circa 1825, mellowed by the years. The living room is gracious with a fireplace enhanced by Delft tiles, a bay window and 2 arched display cabinets. The dining room is spacious with wide pine floor boards. A fireplace with colorful Moravian tiles and unique cabinetry add interest to the country kitchen. Upstairs, the master bedroom and bath, two family bedrooms, each with bath. A full attic offers room for expansion. Outbuildings include a stone smoke house and a bank barn for garages and stables. 48 acres of rolling pasture and woodland give complete seclusion to this exceptional property in East Amwell. The driveway is flanked by majestic pine trees. Flowering shrubs abound around walkways and terraces. An opportunity to get away from the troubles of the outside world. $785,000
